

Certificate of Factory Training

This is to certify that

Jeff Vogt of Roseville Roofing

has completed the Gerard Training program. This certificate verifies the individual named above has received instruction in the approved application techniques of Gerard stone-coated steel roofing products and accessories.

4-27-07

Date

Issue No: 660

Richard Anderson
Gerard Training Manager

Gerard Roofing Technologies assumes no liability for either incorrect installation of its products or personal injury that may occur as a result of installing its products. This certificate is not an endorsement of the quality of workmanship of the roofing contractor or the individual named above. The installation methods taught at the Gerard Training program have been developed using acceptable, tested and proven methods of installing Gerard products. Gerard has no control over the installation techniques used with its products outside of the training program, no warranty is expressed or implied relating to installation. Consumers are cautioned that Gerard is not affiliated with any contractors, builders, or applicators. Such firms are independent and only represent Gerard in the resale of its products. Any recommendation or referral by Gerard is based on limited prior knowledge of the reputation or experience of the contractor, and is provided to the consumer for information and assistance only. Liability is limited exclusively to the terms and conditions of the Gerard warranty, in effect at the time the roof is completed.